KILLARNEY PARK

5-Star Hotel - Killarney

Named “#1 Luxury Hotel in Ireland” in 2020 by TripAdvisor, the Killarney Park Hotel sets the standard for both luxury and hospitality. Located in Killarney’s town centre and steps from the 25,000 acre Killarney National Park, the Killarney Park Hotel has perfected the blend of old world elegance and modern day luxury. With a full-service spa, delectable dining experiences, beautifully appointed rooms and expansive grounds, the Killarney Park Hotel is your perfect home away from home.

TRALEE

Ranked 98th in the world by Golf Digest, is often considered Arnold Palmer's finest design. Situated along the rugged Atlantic coast, Tralee is a tale of two nines that captivates your attention from the very first tee shot to the last putt on the 18th. The front nine plays along fairly level land atop of cliffs hugging the coastline whereas the back nine plays through mountainous dunes where players face daunting carries across ravines to plateau greens.

OLD HEAD

Simply stated: Old Head is one of the most beautiful and visually stunning golf courses and ranks 68th in the world for good reason. The course is situated on a promontory that juts out over two miles into the Atlantic Ocean. As if navigating the ever-changing weather (and wind) conditions weren't challenge enough, nine holes play along the cliff tops with holes close enough to the crashing Atlantic waves that put an extra emphasis on shot precision and accuracy.

DOOKS

Founded in 1889, Dooks is one of the 10th oldest golf clubs in Ireland. At Dooks, the golf course blends beautifully with nature and provides visitors a tranquil and unique way to experience true links golf with a variety of gorse, wild flowers, sandy fairways and contoured greens. While shorter in length than many of its contemporaries (measuring only 6500 yards from the tips), golfers will be mightily challenged during their rounds but will find immense enjoyment surrounding by the eye catching scenery.

WATERVILLE

Golf at Waterville originated with a nine hole course around 1889 but it wasn't until the 18-hole championship layout designed by Eddie Hackett in 1972 (later redesigned by Tom Fazio) that Waterville came to life. Ranked 75th in the world, Waterville plays on a promontory surrounded by the Atlantic and Ballinskelligs Bay affording views of the Macgillicuddy's Reeks mountain range. The front nine eases golfers into their rounds with gently undulating fairways whilst the back nine takes golfers on an adventure weaving through the tall dunes.

BALLYBUNION

Ranked 16th in world rankings, Ballybunion is nothing but unforgettable. Low scores can be had when conditions are mild with a gentle breeze. But when the wind kicks up to gale-like measures then the course really comes to life and challenges golfers on shot shaping, precision and creativity.

VAUGHAN LODGE

4-Star Hotel - Lahinch

As fourth generation hoteliers, it's safe to say that hospitality is in Michael and Maria Vaughan's blood. The four-star Vaughan Lodge offers guests welcomes guests with open arms and treats everyone as if they were family. And with their award-winning fine dining restaurant (VL Restaurant), you'll certainly wish this was truly your family's regular dinner table. Whether you're spending the day on the links at nearby Lahinch or exploring the Cliffs of Moher and the Wild Atlantic Way, Vaughan Lodge offers you the perfect, cozy spot to relax in the evening before another activity-filled day.

LAHINCH

Originated by Old Tom Morris, redesigned by Alister MacKenzie and later restored by Martin Hawtree, it's no surprise that Lahinch's Old Course ranks 35th in the world. Famously dubbed "the finest natural links course that he'd ever seen" by Old Tom, the course is equal parts enchanting, rugged, distinctive, unusually varied and a joy to play. From blind shots and large dunes to narrow fairways to the vastly undulating MacKenzie greens, a round at Lahinch is always a memorable one.
